

Common Raven Corvus corax

Atlas 1

Atlas 2

The expansion of the Common Raven's breeding range into Sacramento County is discussed in Chapter Four. While most nesting was in open, rural settings, increasing numbers are moving into more developed parts of the county. It remains to be seen whether the increase in this highly intelligent and resourceful bird will have impacts on other bird species.

Breeding Bird Survey Trend (1966–2019)

California
4.19% / year^s

Rangewide¹
1.99% / year^s

¹North America; ^ssignificant; Source: Sauer et al. 2020

Breeding Habitat

Variety, but generally open

Comparison of Atlas Results

Nest Type

Stick nest in tree or tall structure

12 April 2016

Block G-7

Saw one raven delivering stick to nest in high voltage tower. Other bird sitting in nest.